- architecture – Click on my email on the top-left corner for separate overviews for readers coming from science, astrology or philosophy.
- elementary philosophy and the first subsection of evolutions – Basically the same fundamental idea about describing elements in terms of in/out and rest/move as is still the foremost topic on my website today (2016).
- long-range feelings – Various considerations around the nature and potential range of feelings and how that could potentially explain many phenomena in this world quite uniformly.
- elementary star signs – My model of the star signs in terms of transformations between the four greek elements.
- magic carpets – An explanation of my general method of association for exploring symbolic worlds and some applications involving astrology and ancient Chinese culture.
- moebius lego – A text that I would now (2016) classify as some kind of precognition of my explorations of “the moon” that followed in 2010, in two versions, one possibly typed only with my left hand.
- reflectivity – Some rumination on science and my personal odyssey.
